

MR BROWNLOW

Character Age: Late 60s

Vocal Range: N/A

Mr Brownlow is the kind elderly man who takes a liking to Oliver after he is proved innocent of a crime. He represents the upper class of London yet provides a contrast with the widely held opinion in the elite that the paupers and criminals deserve what they get. An interesting side note, this character is said to be based on Dickens himself, who wrote Oliver Twist to expose the poverty stricken masses that the upper classes were choosing to ignore.
